

The image features a series of concentric circles containing text. The outermost ring contains the sentence "I do not perform secular experiments, all becomes normal, his Excellency stooped to her. It is of no use, said the Grand, what future course I should pursue if you will follow my instructions, for he had already begun to exercise the tools, I could not help talking of the wild ritual of this work. Importance de l'archéologique pour le général et le général en chef". The inner rings contain smaller, less legible text, possibly repeating or elaborating on the themes of the outer ring. The overall design is minimalist and uses black text on a white background.